Evening Exam Bill

“An bill requesting that professors give students flexibility in scheduling out-of-class examinations.”

Whereas(1):  It has become increasingly common for professors to schedule examinations in the evening or outside of class; and,

Whereas(2):  These examinations cause schedule conflicts for students who are employed, have classes at odd hours, and are in extracurricular activities.

Therefore
Let it be Enacted(1):  The students of Texas A&M University request that examinations be held during regularly scheduled class hours whenever possible; and,

Let it be Further Enacted(2):  The students of Texas A&M University request that, when examinations must be held outside of class hours, the University and professors allow students more options for taking these exams in order to minimize schedule conflicts.
