- Whereas(1): Throughout the history of Texas A&M, LGBT students have struggled to establish a community free from discrimination and continue to face discrimination which isolates them from the Aggie family; and,
- Whereas(2): The inspiring, yet unrecognized, leadership and selflessness of many Aggies led to the development of policies to push Texas A&M to be more inclusive for LGBT students; and,
- Whereas(3): The Texas A&M University Student Senate has never passed any legislation in support the LGBT community; and,
- Whereas(4): During the 65th session of the Student Senate, this very body passed a resolution allowing students to opt-out of two dollars from their student fees going to the GLBT Resource Center by citing religious objections, several campus organizations that are still pushing for this policy; and,
- Whereas(5): Gay Student Services vs. Texas A&M University is a court case that nearly made its way to the United States Supreme Court in 1984 because the university administration cited that homosexuality was illegal in Texas, making the organization illegal; and,
- Whereas(6): Texas A&M was ranked in the top twenty Unfriendly Schools for LGBT students in 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2014 by the Princeton Review.
- Whereas(7): Texas A&M University has implemented the Civil Rights and Compliance Policy (Revised 2015, Sec. 8.01 of TAMU System Policies and Regulations), which states that “The system will provide equal opportunity for employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity” and “No individual will, on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity be excluded from participation in, or be denied the benefit of or be subjected to discrimination under any system program or activity.”
