The 50 Years of Inclusion Appreciation Resolution

"A resolution thanking Texas A&M University and the 50 Years of Inclusion committee for their diligent work in celebrating a milestone anniversary."

Whereas (1): In 1963, Gen. James Earl Rudder made a landmark decision to open the doors of Texas A&M University to African-Americans and women; and,

Whereas (2): Texas A&M University has become a premiere institution serving over 53,000 students on the College Station campus; and,

Whereas (3): The process of Vision 2020 will continue to elevate a culture of excellence through efforts of inclusion and celebrating diversity; and,

Whereas (4): Both the University and its former students have reaped the rewards since the university has included women and African-American students; and,

Whereas (5): Proposed programs educated, engaged and created a positive dialogue on campus; and,

Whereas (6): Texas A&M reinforced its commitment to being a welcome and inclusive community through the 50 Years of Inclusion.
